Quest. 10. Who have been expelled from the Connexion this year?

Ans. Mississippi Conference. Thomas Nixon.

Quest. 11. Who have withdrawn from the Connexion this year?

Ans. Virginia Conference. Ira Parker left us irregularly.
Baltimore Conference. Richard Hunt.

Quest. 12. Were all the Preachers' characters examined before the Conference?

Ans. This was strictly attended to, by calling over their names before their respective conferences.

Quest. 13. Who have died this year?

[The following memoir should have been inserted in the Minutes last year.]

Ans. 1. JOHN PITTS, was born in Anne-Arundell County, in the state of Maryland, Feb. 23, 1772, of reputable parents. Being members of the Church of England, they educated their son according to its principles. He was, however, deprived of his father at the age of eleven years.

At the age of seventeen, under Methodist preaching, it pleased God to awaken young Pitts to a sense of his sinfulness, and to bring him to the knowledge of the truth as it is in Jesus. Soon after he became a member of the Church, and he walked in all good conscience.

In 1795 he was received on trial in the Baltimore Conference, and stationed on Winchester Circuit, Virginia. He continued to labour in the travelling ministry with great acceptance and usefulness, (graduating to the office of a Deacon and Elder in the usual way) until the year 1803, when, in consequence of great exhaustion of bodily strength, he asked a location, which was granted him. But the next year, being somewhat recovered from his debility, he re-joined the Conference, and continued to fill a variety of important stations with great satisfaction, until 1812, when, through debility, he became a Supernumerary, on Frederick circuit. The next year he was returned superannuated. Being no longer able to discharge the duties of a travelling minister, he retired to his farm, near New-Market, in Frederick-County, Maryland, where he continued to linger, with much patience and fortitude, until February 1821, when he fell asleep in Jesus.

He was a man of a meek and quiet spirit. His patience also was such as gave him the possession of his soul, in all the trials and afflictions he had to pass through. He was a lover and cultivator of peace and union in the church of God; and when he was called upon to execute discipline, the minister's painful and trying duty, he was generally enabled to perform the task, so as to secure the confidence of all concerned. He was a good minister of Jesus Christ. Love to God, and to immortal souls, filled and governed his heart; and truth, divine truth, was the constant guide of his mind in his exhortations and sermons. As an ambassador of Jesus Christ, he kept in view his awful charge. He was plain in person, manner, and language; and generally in the pulpit, he was so affected, that like his master he wept over those who refused or neglected to know the things belonging to their peace. There was a peculiar tenderness and pathos in his spirit and word, which frequently penetrated the whole congregation while he was holding forth the Lord Jesus Christ in all his offices, as the only and all-sufficient Saviour of lost men.

He was useful and successful in the ministry, and was the instrument of promoting several revivals of religion where he laboured. Hundreds, we believe, will be his joy and crown in the day of the Lord.

2. PHILIP KENNERLY, a native of Augusta county, Virginia, was born of respectable parents, on the 18th of October 1769, and brought up in a decent manner. He had the happiness to embrace religion at the age of seventeen years; at which time he joined the Methodist Church, and shortly after became a Local Preacher of that order. In 1794, he was happily married. In 1804, being duly recommended, he was received into the travelling connexion, on trial, in the Baltimore Conference, and appointed to travel on the Rockingham circuit; and in 1805, on Pendleton circuit. In 1806, having exercised the office of Deacon well, he was ordained Elder; and having filled the above stations acceptably, he applied for and obtained a location in consequence of ulcers in his throat. In 1807, he moved to Logan county, Kentucky, where he continued till his death. In this country, his labours were extensive and useful. He was a good preacher, filled with faith and the spirit of Christ, so that while he exposed the errors of the heterodox, and the crimes of the wicked, with faithfulness and authority, he, for the most part, possessed himself of their confidence and good will. It was remarked by his friends and acquaintances, that the last year of his life he had an increasing concern for the salvation of men. Neither the business of life, the interesting ties of a beloved family, nor the numerous difficulties of a life devoted to itinerating operations, could make him contented at home, while souls were perishing for lack of knowledge; hence he applied to the Conference of Green-River District, on the 9th of June, 1821, for a recommendation to the Kentucky Annual Conference, for readmission, which being obtained and presented, he was in Sept. again received cordially among the travelling brethren, and appointed to Christian circuit. But O! how mysterious are the dispensations of divine Providence! On the 31st of August, he was seized by a bilious fever, which, on the 5th of October following, terminated his earthly pilgrimage; but not without flattering prospects of endless pleasure. During his last illness, he sustained his afflictions with the patience of a Christian, and the firmness of a Minister. The morning before his death, brother Rush, a respectable local preacher of the neighbourhood, visited him and conversed freely with him on the subject of his dissolution, to whom he stated that he had not entertained a single doubt of his acceptance with God during his afflictions: that he was happy in God and resigned to his will. After this he became delirious, and did not say much more. But his work was done—His slaves were emancipated—His temporalities well adjusted—His peace made with God; and his sun went down without a cloud. He will be long remembered with gratitude and affection by the inhabitants of the Green-River country in general. 'Being dead, he yet speaketh.' The fruits of his ministry are yet visible. God has not forgotten his work and labour of love. Since his departure, the Lord has powerfully converted his oldest son, and his son's wife; and we humbly hope that more of his children are well nigh persuaded to follow him, as he followed Christ.

3. WALTER GRIFFITH, a native of Montgomery county, Maryland. He was born August 12, 1782. When near twenty years of age he was awakened to a sense of his condition by nature and his need of Christ; and after a few months of conviction,—during which he earnestly sought the Lord, he was made a subject of pardoning love. He removed to Kentucky in 1804, and in 1807 he commenced his ministerial labours. In 1810 he travelled several months under the direction of a presiding elder, and at the Western Conference, held in Shelby county, Kentucky, in November of the same year, he was admitted on trial as a member of the Itinerant Connexion, and appointed to Enon, now Lawrenceburgh circuit. At the Conference of 1811 he was re-appointed to this circuit. In 1812 he was appointed to White Oak circuit; in 1813 to Brush creek circuit; in 1814 to Scioto; in 1815 to Deer creek; in 1816 to Mad River; in 1817 to White Oak; and in 1818 to Limestone. In all these places he laboured with acceptance and usefulness. At the Conference of 1819 he was appointed to Miami district, where he remained two years, and laboured faithfully in the duties of his charge as long as his strength would permit. In his second year on the district his health became much impaired, and during the latter part of the year he was unable to preach. His disorder being of the pulmonary kind, and his constitution apparently broken, the Ohio Conference of 1821, considering him superannuated, gave him that relation on their Minutes. After this he spent most of his time at his place of residence in Nevillesville, Ohio, until the latter part of the following April. Feeling at this time some better, and thinking that moderate travelling might be of service to him, he left home in company with his wife, intending to visit some of his friends. He arrived at Xenia, a town in Green county, when his disorder and the fatigue of travelling had so exhausted his strength that he was unable to proceed any farther. Here, at the house of one of our friends, after several weeks of painful confinement, he ended his days. During the gradual decay of his health, he enjoyed confidence in God, and was looking for salvation through the merits of Christ. The flattering nature of his disorder led him at times to entertain a hope of recovering his health, and at other times he was subject to a depression of spirit. But his trust was in the Lord of Hosts, from whom he expected salvation. A few days previous to his death, when visited by one of his brethren in the ministry, he appeared unusually happy in his mind, and desired all his friends to be told that he was going to rest in heaven. After this his disorder and medicine which he had taken, appeared to effect in his mind a partial derangement, and he fell into discouraging and gloomy apprehensions. From this state, however, he was soon happily delivered, and his mind became quietly fixed upon God. And on the 27th of June, 1822, being in the forty-first year of his age, he bid adieu to sublunary things in hope of life and immortality.

4. JOHN DIX, the subject of this short memoir, was born Aug. 14, 1767, in Robeson county, North-Carolina. He became a subject of converting grace, and a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the year 1790, and about the year 1810 he received license to preach as a local preacher in Brunswick circuit: in 1816 he was ordained deacon: in 1818 was admitted into the travelling connexion, and appointed to Bladen circuit: in 1819 to Little Peedee: in 1820 to Black-River: in 1821 to Lynch's creek, and in 1822 to Deep-river, where he finished his course on the 14th day of January, 1823, by a stroke of apoplexy, in the 56th year of his age. His opportunities for improvement were very limited in the early part of his life, consequently he acquired but a very small share of literature; from which circumstances he came forward to public view under many disadvantages: but it is a fact which we state without fear of contradiction that he was useful in a very considerable degree in every circuit to which he was appointed. His zeal, his indefatigable labour, by day and by night, together with his affable and loving manners in the families where he went, seemed in a good degree, to supply his want of an education, and to enlist in his favour the good will and affection of the most pious wherever he travelled. Although he was called off suddenly, yet it was not without strong presentiments of his approaching dissolution. For several months previous to his death, he mentioned to his presiding elder that he was strongly impressed with a belief that he should die in Deep-river circuit. This in effect he repeated afterward, though still in very good health. He also selected the spot where he desired to be interred, meantime he went on with unabating zeal for the salvation of souls, until he had finished his regular appointments on the circuit, and was winding up his business to repair to Conference, if permitted, when suddenly his Master said, it is enough, come up higher. His remains were interred at the spot selected by himself. He has left an aged and afflicted companion to feel the force of this visitation; but we believe her loss is his infinite gain.

5. SAMUEL DAVIS, was born in the village of New-Holland, Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, Oct. 7, 1793. In the year 1805 his parents moved to Shippensburgh, Cumberland county, in the same state, where with them Samuel lived until he entered the Itinerant Connexion.

His education prior to his entering the ministry, consisted of the English and German languages; and during the latter part of his itinerating he paid some attention to the Greek and Hebrew languages.

From his childhood he was remarkably moral, never having been heard to swear an oath, or do any act to offend or grieve his parents. When a child, and up to the time of his conversion, he was impressed with the necessity of experimental religion. This, however, he did not obtain until the year 1812. At a camp-meeting in the month of August of that year, he was encouraged to seek, and in seeking, found redemption in the blood of Jesus, even the forgiveness of his sins. His conversion was powerful and clear, and marked with indications of his future usefulness in the church of Christ.

Being fully persuaded of his call to the ministry, he entered the Travelling Connexion and filled the following stations, viz. Huntingdon 1814, Bottetourt 1815, Huntingdon again 1816, Auckwick 1817, Carlisle 1818, Pittsburgh 1819 and 1820, Baltimore 1821; and in 1822 he was appointed to the Foundry station in the city of Washington, where he ended his life and labours.

In all those stations he served as a faithful minister of Christ. He neglected not the gifts bestowed upon him; but by close application to reading and meditation, he proved himself to be an able minister of the gospel, rightly dividing the word of truth. A divine unction attended the word preached by him to the awakening of many. Hundreds are living who were seals to his ministry, and in eternity will, it is hoped, magnify Jehovah for raising up in their day such a burning and a shining light.

At a camp-meeting in Prince George's county, Md. a few days previous to his last illness, in conversation with one of his brethren he observed, that he was fully fixed in the resolution of devoting all his life to the Lord Jesus in the service of his church. After he returned to his station from this camp-meeting, he was taken ill of a billious fever. As long as he retained his mental faculties he appeared not to be apprehensive of sudden dissolution; but the disease being deeply radicated in his system it soon put medical skill to defiance. His affliction lasted about two weeks, during which time he suffered with uniform patience and resignation.

He died on Sunday morning, September 16, 1822; and although from the Friday evening before his death, he was deprived of the power of speech so that he could not express his religious feelings, yet we have the assurance of his eternal redemption in this, and similar portions of sacred scripture; "Mark the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace."

6. WILLIAM WRIGHT, the subject of this memoir, was a native of Ireland, born in Moneymore, county of Derry, 1798. He emigrated to the United States with his parents in the year 1812. Our esteemed brother while very young, became the subject of converting grace, uniting himself to the Methodist Church in Philadelphia, and undeviatingly continued his way toward the kingdom of heaven through many conflicts and temptations.

After some time, he felt a strong impression upon his mind to call sinners to repentance, and received a license as a local preacher.

About this time there being a want of preachers in the New England Conference, he was advised by the Rev. Martin Ruter, to join himself to that Conference, which advice he followed, and was appointed to labour under the direction of the presiding elder until the next ensuing Annual Conference, at which Conference he was admitted on trial, and appointed to Ashburnham circuit. But in consequence of ill health he returned to Philadelphia, and was appointed at the Philadelphia Conference to Somersett circuit 1819: in 1820 he travelled Accomac; in 1821 Queen Ann's, and in 1822 Annamessex, where he fell a victim to the fever, generally prevalent on the peninsula.

Brother Wright was a young man of an improvable mind, and possessed many amiable qualities. He was much attached to the cause of his Redeemer, and laboured with much zeal for the salvation of his fellow men. He was fond of study, and toward the last of his time appeared more than usually devoted to God, as will appear from a statement of his colleague who writes as follows:—

"I met our dear brother on Annamessex circuit in the month of May last, and found him much devoted to God and his work. We laboured together for more than three months; during which time we met every two weeks, and, as was our custom gave each other a relation of our particular exercises and state of the circuit. At our last interview he observed, that for some time past, and particularly the last tour on the circuit, his communion with God was more close than he had ever experienced before.

"Brother Wright was generally beloved by all classes of people where he travelled, and the family at whose house he died, observed that he was exceedingly patient and resigned during his illness; but appeared not to have any apprehensions of his approaching dissolution. Such was the character of his disease that it hurried him very unexpectedly into eternity, so that his friends had but little opportunity of conversing with him relative to his particular exercises."

But he doubtless rests in peace from his labours and sufferings.

"Far from a world of grief and sin,
With God eternally shut in."

7. WILLIAM PENN CHANDLER, was born in Charles county, Maryland, June 22, 1764. At the age of twenty-six years, he experienced the work of regeneration, on the 20th of August 1790, at half past eight o'clock in the evening, in St. George's Church in Philadelphia. He was admitted into the Travelling Connexion on probation, at the Philadelphia Conference in 1797, and appointed to Strasburg circuit; in 1798 he travelled on Strasburg and Chester circuits: in 1799 he was admitted into full connexion, ordained deacon, and appointed to Cecil circuit; and 1800 he travelled Cecil and Dover. In 1801 he was ordained elder, and appointed to Bristol. In 1802 he was stationed in Philadelphia, and in 1803 he travelled Milford circuit. In 1804 he was appointed presiding elder on Delaware district, which office he filled with uncommon success for four years: and in 1808 he was put in charge of Chesapeake district, where his health failing, he was entered on the Minutes at the following Conference supernumerary, but without a station. In 1810 he was stationed on Bristol circuit, and in 1811 his health failing, he took a superannuated relation. He received a location in 1813. Such, however, was his inviolable attachment to the Travelling Connexion, that in the last year of his life, he begged the privilege of dying with his itinerant brethren, and his humble, affectionate request was granted, and his name was enrolled on the Minutes with his superannuated brethren, at the Philadelphia Conference in May 1822, and on the 8th of December following, he was welcomed into the joy of his Lord. That unerring hand which led him to his crown, conducted him to it in the following manner, viz. On the first Sabbath in May 1820, while our beloved brother was in the delightful work of preaching a crucified Saviour, in Ebenezer Church in Philadelphia, he was visited with a paralytic shock, which disabled wholly his left side; from which he never fully recovered. In July 1822 he took a voyage to the West-Indies, under the nursing hand of his affectionate wife, for the amendment of his health; and after a passage of twenty-four days, arrived in St. Eustatia, and on the week following, he had a second stroke of the Palsy, and that on his right side, which, after his return home, and lingering twelve weeks, terminated his mortal career.

A specimen of the general state of his mind as the closing scene drew near, may appear from the following fact, viz. His class-leader, Brother T. Jackson, on his way to church one Sabbath, calling to see him, he inquired of brother J. the day of the week, and on hearing the word Sunday; "Sunday!" said the triumphant saint, "Go then to the meeting and tell them that I am dying, shouting the praises of God." His ecstacy then being very great, he turned to his wife and said, "My dear Mary, open the window and let me proclaim to the people in the streets the goodness of God."

An affectionate brother, a Physician, gives the following account: "I visited Dr. Chandler daily, during his last illness, which was of long continuance. His disease was an almost universal Paralysis. The attack had at first been confined to one side, and after a partial recovery only of that side, the other became affected in like manner with the first. His mind as well as his body, felt the effects of the disease, which at times caused a considerable derangement of intellect: but notwithstanding the confusion that was apparent in his mental operations, his constant theme was his God and the salvation of his soul; and on these subjects it was truly surprising to hear him converse. Although Dr. Chandler seemed incapable of rational reflection on other subjects, yet on that of religion, at intervals, he never conversed with more fluency, correctness and feeling, at any period of his life. He appeared to be exceedingly jealous of himself, and occasionally labouring under fear, lest he might have deceived himself, and that he should finally become a cast-away; but of these apprehensions he was generally relieved, whenever we approached a throne of grace, which we were in the habit of doing on almost every visit. In this state he remained until within a few days of his death, when the Lord was graciously pleased, in a most extraordinary manner, to pour out his Spirit upon his servant; and although his body was fast sinking, his mind for two days, was restored to perfect vigour and correctness. During this time he seemed to be in the borders of the heavenly inheritance. He spoke of the glories, the joys, and the inhabitants of heaven, as though he had been in the midst of them. He remarked to me at the time, that he felt that his soul had begun to dissolve its connection with the body; and that there was a freedom, a clearness and ease in its views and operations that was entirely new to him, and that he had never before formed a conception of—in fact, said he, I know not whether I am in the body or out of it. Soon after this he sunk into a stupor in which he remained to the last. On the Sabbath following, his funeral sermon was preached by the author of these lines, to a large and deeply affected congregation, from these fine words of the Apostle, But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them that are asleep, and that ye sorrow not even as others which have no hope."

As a Christian, and as a Christian Minister, W. P. Chandler was a man of no ordinary grade. In his deportment,—dignity and humility, fervor and gentleness, plainness and brotherly kindness, with uniform piety, were strikingly exemplified. In the pulpit, his soul was in his eloquence, his Saviour was his theme, and the Divine unction that rested upon him, and the evangelical energy of his sermons, gave a success to his labours, that has been exceeded by few. He studied to shew himself approved unto God, a workman that needed not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth; and how good a proficient he was in this study, thousands who were blest under his ministry can heartily testify: many of whom are living witnesses of the happy effects of his labours, while he is now reaping his eternal reward.

8. WILLIAM ROSS, of the Philadelphia Conference, was born in May 1787, in Kent county, Delaware. His father, a pious man, dying when he was about six years of age, his childhood was not blest with much religious instruction, till he was between eleven and twelve years old, when by his own request, he was bound to a pious member of our church in Kent county, who soon began to teach him the way of salvation, and to furnish him with religious books suitable to his years. The effect of this kindness was not in vain. Conviction of sin, at times, pursued him, until he was nineteen years of age, when, on the 6th of February 1806, he was happily brought to an experimental knowledge of Christ. The ardour of his soul on the attainment of this gracious change, soon began to indicate the will of the Great Head of the Church concerning him, viz. That he was a chosen vessel to bear the hallowed name of his Redeemer to his fellow men. The church saw it, and in 1810 he was licensed to exhort. In 1813 he was licensed a local preacher; but his call to the itinerancy was so evident, that the presiding elder of the district having a vacancy in Milford circuit, appointed him to fill it.

At the Conference of 1814, he was admitted into the Travelling Connexion on probation, and appointed to Lewistown circuit; and in 1815 to Kent circuit: in 1816 he was admitted into full connexion, and elected deacon; but the absence of a bishop that year prevented his ordination one year, which year was crowned with much success on Talbot circuit, to which he had been by the Conference appointed. Here his labour was great as well as successful, and God made his strength according to his day. At the Conference of 1817 he was ordained deacon, and again appointed to Lewistown circuit. In 1818 he travelled Somerset, where his excessive labours in the revivals of religion laid a foundation for the disease that introduced him to his glorious reward. Yet at the Conference of 1819 he was ordained elder, and appointed to Snowhill circuit; but the failure of his health was an interruption of his effective service for a few months. In 1820 he took Lancaster circuit, which through much bodily weakness he filled, to the acceptance of his brethren. In 1821, his ardent soul led him to accept of another circuit, which was Dorchester; but his health soon failing, he reluctantly bid adieu to that glorious work which he could perform no longer; accordingly in 1822 was superannuated, and in the course of that year he entered into the joy of his Lord.

Five days before his death a Christian minister called to see him, and on inquiry found him happy in God. His humble sense of the Divine goodness, made him observe the smaller as well as the greater manifestations of mercy. "The good Lord," said he, "has given me another good night's rest. Glory be to his holy name." On being asked if he enjoyed peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ, his joyful reply was, "Glory to God! I feel a hope that reaches beyond the grave; Glory to God! I am more established in the doctrines I have been preaching than ever I was before, and that the Scriptures are the fundamental doctrines of salvation. Brother C. preach Jesus Christ and him crucified to a fallen world." He died February 22d, 1823, at the house of J. H. Poland, Kent county, Maryland.

A brother of the itinerancy gives the following account. "I have had some acquaintance with our departed brother Ross ever since the year 1806; but in the year 1817, being appointed to travel Lewistown circuit together, our acquaintance grew into an intimacy, and matured into a sincere friendship, which continued till the day of his death. Justice to the deceased compels me to say, that as a friend he was cordial and constant in his attachments, as well as plain and honest in his communications. As a preacher, he never seemed disposed to fear or to flatter any man; but rightly dividing the word of truth, he gave to each his portion in due season: alike regardless of the smiles or frowns of men, he never appeared better pleased than when engaged in his Master's service, in which he laboured, not only according to, but beyond his power. In his manners, when he opposed any thing that he thought wrong, there appeared at times, a degree of bluntness, which, to those who were unacquainted with him, seemed to appear morose; but the pious and candid who were best acquainted with him, will do him the justice to say, that his seeming moroseness was not from a disposition to offend, but a fear of being deceived, or suffering others to be deceived. As a Christian he was sincerely pious and happy in the enjoyment of the confidence and friendship of numerous friends in the different circuits on which he travelled. But he is now kindly relieved from labour, "from trouble and torturing pain," and gone into the presence of HIM, in whose presence is fulness of joy, and at whose right hand are pleasures for ever more.

9. ALONSON GIFFORD, who was a native of the state of New-York, and born in the year 1788. In early life he was favoured with but few advantages for improvement, and under God was chiefly indebted to the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, both for his moral refinement and his knowledge of the gospel.

In the twenty-first year of his age, he became a member of our church in the Cambridge circuit. At this time there was nothing in his Christian deportment which seemed to indicate more than ordinary usefulness; but afterwards he displayed those excellencies which characterize the true herald of the Lord Jesus.

He was licensed as a local preacher in 1812; entered the itinerancy in 1818, and was appointed to the Herkimer circuit. In 1819 to the Canajoharrie; 1820 and 1821 to the Western. In all these places he laboured with considerable success, in the confirmation of saints and conversion of sinners. In 1822 he was appointed to the Litchfield circuit, where he laboured a few weeks and was taken ill, on account of which he returned to his family in Rome, called for medical aid, and though faithfully attended by his physician, every means employed for the recovery of his health proved ineffectual. He died in about two weeks after leaving his circuit.

Alonson Gifford was a sound practical preacher—grave and prudent in his private demeanour, fervent in his devotions, and more than usually zealous in preaching and exhortation. In private life, he was a man of few words, though more good was effected by his conversation than by that of many preachers who converse much. His theme was holiness both in life and death. On the day previous to his departure, he exhorted his friends in a very affecting manner, and expressed a perfect resignation to the will of Heaven. After which he was unable to speak any more. He died in the thirty-fifth year of his age, September 29th, 1822.

48 - Methodist Episcopal Church. Conferences. MINUTES TAKEN AT THE SEVERAL ANNUAL CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, FOR THE YEAR 1823.

New-York: Pub. by N. Bangs and T. Mason; John C. Totten, Printer, 1823.

23 cm. 48 pages, counting front self-wrapper. First page surrounded by ornate typographical border. Side-tied as issued; never bound. Very good; foxed. $150

Highly useful historical source, with many names of Methodist ministers, elders, etc. across America.

Ezra Booth, future Mormon convert and influential apostate, appears here on page 33 as a preacher in Dearfield, Ohio. For information on Booth, see Backman, Heavens Resound, pp. 93-7. Pre-Mormon period printed names of future Mormons are very rare; in this case such a listing provides us background data on someone who would be influential in early persecution of the Saints after he left the Church. Billy Hibbard, famous minister who had a vision as a young man, appears on page 13 as a superannuate, or "worn-out preacher."

10. JAMES GRIGGS PEAL, was born in the town of Sandwich, Kent, England. In May 1805 he enlisted into the Army, which afterward served in Spain, Portugal and Germany. Previous to his leaving England, he came under the preaching of the Methodists, where he was awakened and converted to God; and soon after he began to exhort his comrades to repent. During his continuance in the Army, which was about nine years, he was in the habit of preaching to the soldiers in the barracks and fields: and by his labours a considerable society was raised up, and continued to associate together for religious worship while he continued with them. In 1815 the Royal Staff Corps to which he was attached, came to Halifax: thence to Coteau-Du-Lac, Lower-Canada. Application having been made to his Excellency the Governor, he obtained his discharge from the Army, for the purpose of becoming an itinerant preacher in the Canadas. With his discharge he received from his commanding officer, Major L., the following recommendation, dated the 25th of November, 1817. "I certify that I have known James Peal for the period of nine years. During which time he has invariably conducted himself with the utmost sobriety and integrity, and is well deserving any indulgence that may be granted to him."

Till June 1818 he was employed by the presiding elder to travel on the Attawa circuit. In July of the same year, he was admitted on trial in the Itinerant Connexion, and was stationed in the Bellville circuit: in 1819 in the Cornwall circuit: in 1820 in the Yongestreet circuit: in 1821 he was appointed to Perth, and the New-Settlements: in 1822 in the Bay-Quinte circuit, where he finished his course. He died the 25th of December, 1822.

About two weeks previous to his dissolution, in order to meet his appointment it was necessary to cross the ice about a mile and a half. The ice being very smooth he found it difficult to keep his feet, he therefore took off his boots and travelled in his stocking feet. This was the occasion of a heavy cold. On the ensuing Sabbath though unwell he preached twice and met two classes, taking no refreshment throughout the day except a light breakfast. On this day too he again took cold, being thinly clothed and facing a severe wind. His last sermon on Luke xiii. 5, Except ye repent ye shall all likewise perish, was delivered in an impressive manner. After which he walked to brother C. Switzer's. He now became so unwell that he could take no nourishment, but appeared much exercised on the subject of religion, and said, "If I never preach again I am clear of the blood of this people." His disorder increased till, at intervals, he became delirious, and for the last twenty-four hours especially, he was deranged. While he possessed his reason, he appeared sensible of his approaching dissolution, but shewed no murmuring or impatience; but when asked if he was ready to go, he answered with composure, "I am both ready and willing."

The most prominent traits in his character were zeal, firmness and perseverance in the discharge of his duties. And some in the Cornwall and Yongestreet circuits especially, will long remember and bless God for the faithful labours of brother Peal.

Question. Who have died this year?

1. ENOCH GEORGE, late Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was born in the state of Virginia, Lancaster county, in the year 1767 or '68. His mother died when he was young, and he was left to the care of an elder sister. During his minority, his father removed to the state of North Carolina. At about the age of eighteen or nineteen, he became, through the instrumentality of the Methodist ministry, deeply convinced of sin, and sought and obtained the pardoning mercy of God, through our Lord Jesus Christ. He was soon called to the exercise of public prayer and exhortation; and after fruitless struggles to suppress the impression of duty which increasingly rested upon his mind, with great diffidence he entered the field of labour as a preacher. He travelled a short time with Philip Cox, and was then sent, by Bishop Asbury, to assist Daniel Asbury in forming a circuit on the head waters of the Catawba and Broad rivers.

In 1790, he was received into the itinerant connexion on trial, and appointed to Pamlico circuit; and in 1791, to Caswell. In 1792 he was admitted into full connexion, ordained deacon, and appointed to Guilford circuit; and in 1793, to Broad river. In 1794 he was ordained elder, and appointed to Great Pee Dee. The next year he was appointed to Edisto, with instructions to labour three months in Charleston, S. C.; and the two years following he filled the office of presiding elder.

In 1798, on account of ill health, he travelled to the north as far as New-York. Having measurably recovered his health, in 1800 he resumed his labours, and was appointed presiding elder of Potomac district, in the Baltimore Conference. His health failed a second time, and he located in 1801. In 1803 he again entered the itinerant field, and was appointed to Frederick circuit; in 1804, to Baltimore district; 1805, Alexandria district; 1807, Georgetown, D. C.; 1808, Frederick; 1809, Montgomery; 1810, Baltimore circuit; 1811, Potomac district; and in 1815, to Georgetown district.

At the General Conference held in Baltimore, May, 1816, he was elected and ordained Bishop. In the active discharge of the arduous duties of this highly responsible office, he continued until his death. He died at Staunton, Va., August 23d, 1828, in the peace and triumph of gospel faith, and with his latest breath giving "glory to God."

Bishop George was a man of deep piety, of great simplicity of manners, a very pathetic, powerful, and successful preacher, greatly beloved in life, and very extensively lamented in death.

This brief memoir has been prepared at the instance of committees appointed for the purpose by the Baltimore and New-York Annual Conferences, and is inserted at their request. A fuller biographical notice of this late excellent servant of God, will appear in the Methodist Magazine and Quarterly Review.

TENNESSEE CONFERENCE.

2. RICHARD NEELEY was born in Rowan county, N. C., January 13, 1802. While young, his parents removed to Rutherford county, Tennessee. On the 20th of August, 1819, he obtained religion, and united himself to the Methodist Episcopal Church. In April, 1821, he was licensed to exhort; in September following, to preach; and in the same year was admitted into the travelling connexion. During this conference year, he was the honoured instrument of commencing our very successful mission among the Cherokee Indians, and formed a society of thirty-three natives. In 1823, he was appointed missionary and teacher of the school at Creek path; and in 1824, to form Wills Valley circuit, where he laboured two years with much success. On this circuit, through unremitting exertions and great exposure, his health began to decline. In 1826, he was supernumerary; in 1827, superannuated; and on the 22d of February, 1828, peacefully expired. He was a man of good mind, and pleasing manners; a pious Christian, and a useful minister. His "dear Cherokee friends" were much on his heart in his last moments, and many converted Indians will delight to cherish a recollection of the name and labours of Richard Neeley.

SOUTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

3. ASBURY MORGAN, who was born in Mechlenburg county, Va., Aug. 25, 1797.—When he was about 18 months old, his parents removed to Ga.—In 1811, at a camp meeting, he was deeply awakened to a sense of his sinfulness, but did not experience renewing grace till some time in the ensuing year. He soon after joined the Church, and was early impressed with the obligation to call sinners to repentance. In 1818 he was admitted, on trial, into the itinerant connexion, and continued to travel and labour till 1825, when he had a violent attack of fever, which brought him near to the grave. His constitution, from this time, was greatly impaired, and at the ensuing Conference he received a superannuated relation. His health improved, and the next year he again took an appointment, and laboured with great zeal and success. In 1828 he was appointed to Charleston, S. C., and entered upon, and performed, the arduous duties of that station with all his heart. In September he was attacked with the fatal "stranger's fever," and, after suffering beyond description, breathed his last on the 25th of that month. In an early stage of the disease, he was deprived of the power of speech. What little he had been able to say previously, was highly satisfactory; and if he could have said nothing, his holy life would have been to his friends an abundant pledge of his happy end.—Brother Morgan was not a man of splendid talents, but was acceptable and useful. He was of very amiable temper, and his unaffected meekness and humility, with the endearing affability of his manners, seldom failed to gain the hearts of those who knew him.—His work is accomplished before the noon of life, and he is gone to praise more perfectly the Redeemer whom he loved.

VIRGINIA CONFERENCE.

4. SAMUEL GARRARD was a native of Orange county, N. C. Neither the date of his birth, nor of his conversion, has been furnished. His youthful character was marked by industry, frugality and perseverance. After satisfactory evidence of his piety and gifts, in the year 1800 the Virginia Conference received him as a probationer. From this time, he travelled and laboured on various circuits till 1809, when he was called upon to discharge the important duties of a presiding elder, and appointed to Yadkin district. In 1821 he was compelled, from severe affliction, to take a superannuated relation, in which he remained until his decease. Brother Garrard was well received and useful. He was a man of warm feeling, strong in his attachments, fervent in spirit, animated in his sermons, exhortations, and prayers, and great in revivals;—in these his excellencies appeared to the best advantage. He departed this life on the 5th of May, 1828, near the place of his birth. A little before the final pang, in reply to a question respecting his prospects beyond the grave, he said, "I have had my failings and imperfections, in common with other men; but my trust is reposed in Christ alone, who died for me,—by whose stripes we are healed."

BALTIMORE CONFERENCE

5. ROBERT MINSHALL was born in Pennsylvania, in the year 1788, and departed this life July 15th, 1828, at Mercersburg, Franklin county, Pa., in the fortieth year of his age, and the fifteenth of his ministry.

Brother Minshall's aim was to glorify God, and find his way to heaven, and that aim he steadily pursued. His talents, piety, and zeal, made him, through grace, extensively useful. In the formation and support of sabbath schools and tract societies, he was very successful, and an instrumentality in establishing one of these excellent institutions on the Clear Spring circuit, on which he ended his labours, was one of the last public acts of his life.

While the memory of Robert Raikes, as the great author of sabbath school instruction, shall survive, the name of Robert Minshall, in another land, and at another period, should be associated with it, as a constant friend, and an efficient supporter. Those societies, formed under his direction, and cherished and supported by his zeal, shall form at least a portion of his monument; and the "houseless orphan," as he passes the grave of Minshall, shall point to the spot, and say, "There lies my friend."

His life was closed in circumstances of great mercy. Of his acceptance with God, he continued to enjoy the strongest assurance. Being asked by his deeply afflicted companion, in reference to her future situation, should he be taken from her, he replied, "I have been a travelling man; my lot is in heaven." He died with the shout of triumph, and went to his heavenly home, exclaiming, "Glory, glory, for ever and ever."

6. WILLIAM H. CHAPMAN was a native of Maryland, and became, while young, a subject of the pardoning mercy of God.

In 1821, having been convinced of his call to the work of the ministry, he was received on trial in the Baltimore Conference. In the appointments which he filled, his labours were considerably blessed. He was plain in his manners, searching and powerful in his appeals to the heart, diligent in the duties of his office, and possessed in a high degree, "that mind which was also in our Lord Jesus Christ." His last appointment was to Loudon circuit, on which he closed his labours and his life, April 24th, 1828. In his afflictions he was prepared to surrender into the hands of his God, himself, his family, and his all; and some of the last words he was heard to utter, were, "Glory, glory."

7. SAMUEL M'PHERSON was born in the county of Donnegal, Ireland, in the year 1797 or 1798, and through the counsel and prayers of his pious mother, with the influences of the Divine Spirit, he became, when not more than ten years of age, the subject of religious awakenings.

In the year 1814 he came to this country and settled in Fredericksburg, Va. In the year 1818, he united himself to the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1825 he was received on trial in the Baltimore Conference, and appointed to Severn circuit, and continued to labour acceptably and successfully on various circuits, till 1828, when he was entered on the minutes as without an appointment, in consequence of affliction. His health continued to decline till the ensuing August, when he finished his course in great peace, near Staunton, Virginia.

Brother M'Pherson was a young man of great prudence, industrious in his habits, and friendly and sociable in his disposition. He lived much in his closet, and enjoyed an intimate communion with "the Father of his spirit." He promised extensive usefulness; but his race was short. He fell a martyr to his work. It was enough

PHILADELPHIA CONFERENCE.

8. SAMUEL DOUGHTY was born in Philadelphia, in January, 1794. In 1816, in Pittsburgh, Pa., he became a subject of the renewing grace of God, and united himself to the Methodist Episcopal Church. He soon returned to Philadelphia, and in 1823 was admitted on trial, as an itinerant preacher. During that year and the following, he travelled Asbury circuit. The next two years he was stationed at New-Brunswick, and in 1827 and '28 in Philadelphia.

Brother Doughty, as a preacher, was popular and useful. His discourses were frequently truly eloquent; and had his voice been equal to his other qualifications as a speaker, he would have attained much greater eminence. His literary and theological acquirements were highly respectable, of which his sermons in the Methodist Magazine, particularly that entitled "Instability in Religion," afford satisfactory evidence.

His zeal for the glory of God, and the welfare of men, appeared in the interest which he took in the success of benevolent institutions. He was their eloquent advocate, and was particularly active in the promotion of Sunday schools, both before and after he became a minister of the gospel. Just previously to his death, he was engaged, with others, in organizing and bringing into operation a Conference Sunday School Union, auxiliary to the Sunday School Union of the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which auxiliary he was corresponding secretary. In September, 1828, he was invited to assist in certain religious exercises, at the enlargement of the church edifice in Wilmington, Del., and was there seized with the illness which terminated his life and labours, on the 17th of that month, at the house of the Rev. Solomon Higgins. He died in great peace, rejoicing that death, to him, "had no terrors." He was highly respected and beloved, and the tribute of affection paid to his memory by the numerous and weeping members of his charge, who followed him to his grave, was gratifying to his brethren, and to his surviving relatives.

9. WATERS B. JONES was born in the year 1800, in New Providence, New-Jersey. When about eighteen years of age, he was happily converted to God, from which time he "adorned the doctrine of God our Saviour," by the most lively devotion, and exemplary deportment. About the year 1822, he began to devote himself to studies having a special reference to the ministry, exhorting occasionally, till 1824, when he was placed by the presiding elder of the West Jersey district on Freehold circuit, which appointment he filled acceptably. In 1825 he was received on trial by the Philadelphia Conference, and was successively appointed to Smyrna, Dover, and Queen Ann's circuits. In 1828, he was appointed the second time to Queen Ann's, and there finished his course, on Kent Island, Sept. 6. His illness lasted about a fortnight, and he bore it with great patience and resignation.

Our dear brother, from his youth, possessed a kind and pleasing disposition, and great excellence of character; and when grace had renewed his heart, his virtues were displayed in such a form as rendered him exceedingly amiable. As a Christian, he was an ornament to the church; and as a minister, well read in the word of God. From that treasury he drew largely, as a faithful and wise steward, sound in faith, and "in doctrine uncorrupt." His discourses were generally well arranged, simply and clearly illustrated, and faithfully and affectionately applied. His worth as a man, a Christian, and a minister, cannot be estimated by this memoir.

10. LAWRENCE LAWRENSON departed this life in the fiftieth year of his age, on the 4th day of April, 1829, at the residence of the Rev. John Goforth, Cecil county, Md. On the previous sabbath he preached at Port Deposit, and thence accompanied his friend to his dwelling. On arriving, he complained of his throat, which became swollen and increasingly painful, until the pain was extreme; yet neither he, nor his friends, apprehended that it would terminate so seriously. On the day of his death, he walked across the chamber, and being weak, his attendant aided him to his bed, on which he laid down. His attendant then turned from him; but observing him to be perfectly still, returned to the bed to ascertain the cause. His spirit had fled. Brother Lawrenson embraced religion in the year 1800, and in 1810 was admitted, on trial, into the Philadelphia Conference. In the various stations assigned him, he laboured with distinguished acceptability and success. As presiding elder he endeared himself to the preachers and people. He possessed a noble and generous mind; and although greatly subject to lowness of spirit, which sometimes disqualified him for entering upon his work with that zeal and enterprise for which he was otherwise distinguished, yet, under the influence of a Divine unction, he often preached with an energy, eloquence, and effect, equalled by few, and perhaps exceeded by none. Then truly his preaching was "not in word only," but in "demonstration of the Spirit and with power." He triumphantly soared above his constitutional infirmity, and poured forth the truths of the everlasting gospel with an ardour that evinced his sincerity, and with an affection that gained the attention, and melted the hearts of his hearers. And now he lives to die no more.

11. THOMAS EVERARD was a native of England. He came to America previously to the revolution, some time after which he embraced religion, and became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In the year 1790, his name first appears in the minutes, as an itinerant preacher. In this relation he continued, mostly in the Philadelphia Conference, until his decease; excepting three years, from 1794 to 1797, in which he was located, and made two or three voyages to his native country; which he also visited again in 1820. For several years preceding his death, he sustained a superannuated relation, and spent his time chiefly in and about Philadelphia, where he died in the month of May, 1828, at an advanced period of life. Brother Everard was a man of genuine piety, and of great simplicity and zeal. His talents as a preacher were respectable. The testimonials which he brought with him, in 1823, from his last visit to England, where he had spent more than two years, were highly creditable. In the inscrutable providence of God, he was deprived, in the latter part of his life, of the use of his reason, and reduced to a state of utter derangement. But He who is rich in goodness, did not suffer his sun to set in clouds. A few hours before his death, the light of intellect beamed from his mind, and the light of Heaven upon his heart. Some of his last words were appropriate and pleasing quotations from Scripture, and he finished with the triumphant exclamation, "All is well."

12. JACOB MOORE was born in Sussex county, Delaware, in the year 1791. He became a subject of the converting grace of God, and attached himself to the Methodist Episcopal Church, at a very early period of life. In April, 1815, he entered the travelling connexion, in the Philadelphia Conference. His ministerial labours were chiefly in New-Jersey, and in the peninsula composed of the state of Delaware, and the eastern shores of Maryland and Virginia; within which, beside travelling various circuits, he was two years presiding elder of the West Jersey, and two years of the Chesapeake district.

Our departed brother was an exemplary Christian, and an able minister of the gospel. His application to study was intense, and his proficiency great. But he had an extremely feeble body, and was several times, during the course of his ministry, brought to the verge of the grave, and almost miraculously raised up again, to pursue his sacred vocation.

He was on his way from Queen Ann's circuit, to the Conference in Philadelphia, in 1828, when he was arrested by the disease which terminated his earthly existence. To several of the preachers who called to see him, he gave the most satisfactory assurances that he was dying in the Lord, and in the latter part of April, 1828, at the house of his kind friend Dr. Bates, in Dover, Delaware, he quietly fell asleep in Jesus, in the 37th year of his age.

NEW-YORK CONFERENCE.

13. ISAAC CANDEE. He was received on trial into the itinerant connexion, in the year 1801, being then in the 37th year of his age. In 1811, in consequence of many and great infirmities, he took a supernumerary relation, in which he continued till 1821. The next year he located, and in 1824, was readmitted, and received a superannuated relation, in which he continued until his death. He died at Somers, in West-Chester county, N. Y., December 22nd, 1828, in the 64th year of his age, in peace with God and man, and in full hope of a blissful immortality. Brother Candee was a sincere Christian, an affectionate relative, a warm-hearted friend, and a serious, solemn, and successful minister of Jesus Christ; and such was the respect which was entertained for him in his immediate neighbourhood, that the citizens kindly contributed, with other friends, to furnish his widow and daughter with a comfortable house, which they now hold as their own property; so truly "a Father of the fatherless, and a Judge of the widows, is God in his holy habitation."

MAINE CONFERENCE.

14. NATHANIEL P. DEVERAUX was born Jan. 1, 1803, in Castine, Maine. He became a subject of converting grace in 1818. In 1820 he received license as a local preacher, and was admitted on trial into the itinerant connexion in 1826. In 1828 he was admitted into full connexion, received deacons' orders, and was appointed to Calais circuit, where his last ministerial labours were performed. On his way from conference, he visited his father's family in Palmyra, and preached three times in the vicinity on the following sabbath. After evening service, in a state of perspiration, he sat conversing in the open air, until the damp chill of night laid the foundation of that fatal disease which terminated his life. A most severe cough ensued, and soon produced the ravage of a rapid consumption. He was able to do but little service in the circuit, although he continued in it until the last of December. He then returned to his father's house, and continued to linger until April 28th, when his sufferings were exchanged for the rest which remains to the people of God. His preaching talents were acceptable, and his faithful labours were crowned with the salvation of souls. His death was peaceful and happy. His last words were—

"I will not let thee go
Till all I have is lost in thee
And all renew'd I am."

NOTES.

The publishers again respectfully suggest to the conferences the importance of stricter attention in the original manuscript minutes, to the orthography of names, both of persons and places; to writing them plainly; and to uniformity in spelling them. Having no rule to determine us in relation to names with which we are not acquainted, if any errors exist of which we are not aware, we can only say that, as nearly as we could, we have followed the copy as furnished to us, both in the original manuscripts, and in the minutes printed in the West. In several instances, names of the same individuals have been found variously spelled, in the same conference, and by the same secretary. In such cases we have adopted one mode, but cannot be certain whether it be the correct one. The marking of elders, and the calculations of numbers, also require care.

Simon L. Booker, of the Baltimore Conference, who was stationed in Baltimore, has, since the sitting of the conference, been released from that appointment, in consequence of affliction.

In conferences embracing Indian members, the secretaries are particularly requested always to state these distinctly, in a distinct column, as the whites and coloured are now done. This distinction should be made in the returns from the missions, as well as from the regular circuits.

VALUE OF MINUTES.—We have not at present in store, a single copy of the minutes of the conferences for the year 1815. If any agents having copies for that year on hand, can return them to us by any private conveyance, or without expense, we shall be obliged to them, as we wish them to complete sets. In a few years the preachers, travelling and local, and our friends generally, will regret that they have not supplied themselves with the minutes of every year, and preserved them regularly from the commencement. Those who wish their sets completed, may perhaps be able to effect it by early application to the preachers. Minutes increase in value with their age, instead of becoming less valuable.

Having a few spare pages, the publishers beg leave to occupy them with the following Notices:

METHODIST MAGAZINE AND QUARTERLY REVIEW,

NEW SERIES.

Edited and Published for the Methodist Episcopal Church, by J. Emory and B. Waugh, 14 Crosby-street, New-York.

This work will be published in Quarterly numbers.

Each number will be ornamented with a copperplate engraving, by our best artists, and will average 120 pages, octavo, on good paper.

The price will be two dollars per annum, if paid in advance; or, at latest, within one month after receiving the first number.

To those who do not thus pay, the price will be $2,50. And if payment be not made in time for us to receive it before the close of the subscription year, the price will be $3;—the work to subscribers so neglecting to pay, will then be discontinued, and their bills sent for collection.

To all who pay in advance, the safe reception of their numbers will be warranted.

All itinerant ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized to receive subscriptions and payments, and to pass receipts.

Any agent, or other persons, transmitting to us $10 in advance, shall receive six copies;—for $20, thirteen copies;—for $30, twenty-one copies;—for $40, twenty-nine copies;—and for $50, thirty-seven copies; and at the same rate for any greater quantity.

In ordering this work to be sent by mail, it is indispensable to name the post office, county, and state.

The postage to any place not over 100 miles, cannot exceed 7½ cents per quarter. To any distance over 100 miles, it cannot exceed 12½ cents per quarter.

For any subscribers, or agents, who may wish the work sent otherwise than by mail, we will deliver it, free of expense, at any steamboat, packet, stage office, or other place in this city or Brooklyn, with such direction as may be ordered.

In all cases, whether by mail or otherwise, the names and residence of subscribers must be mentioned.

The first number will be issued, Providence permitting, in the month of September or October, 1829.

It is highly desirable to have returns from agents and others as full as possible, before that time, to enable us to determine the proper number to print.

In the first number, with other articles original and selected, may be expected a continuation of the "Defence of our Fathers, and of the original organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church;" by the same author:—in reply, so far as may be judged necessary, to the attacks made on that work. Also an exposition and defence of the Report of the Committee on Petitions and Memorials, adopted by the last General Conference;—an article on municipal and moral law concerning Trustees;—a very interesting memoir, by the Rev. Jas. O. Andrew, of the rise and progress of Methodism in Charleston S. C.:—and a biographical notice of the late Rev. Bishop George, from an original manuscript left by himself, and never before published.

YOUTH'S INSTRUCTER,

And Sabbath School and Bible Class Assistant,

NEW SERIES.

This work is published Monthly, by J. Emory & B. Waugh, for the Methodist Episcopal Church. The first number of the new series was issued in April last. Each number contains thirty-six pages. The price per annum, if paid in advance, is $1. If not paid in advance, $1 25; and if not paid before the close of the subscription year, $1 50. For sabbath schools, three copies will be furnished for $2, if paid in advance. All itinerant ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized agents.

The Child's Magazine will not be sent out in future, in any case, unless paid for in advance. The price per year, in twelve monthly numbers, is 25 cents, provided not less than eight copies be ordered to any one place. If one hundred copies be taken and paid for, 20 per cent. discount will be allowed. The first and second volumes are now complete. Price, neatly half bound, 37½ cents each.

PAYMENTS IN ADVANCE,

For the Christian Advocate and Journal and Zion's Herald.

Those subscribers for this paper who desire to avail themselves of the low price of two dollars, by paying in advance, are respectfully reminded that it is necessary to offer the payment, and not wait to be called on. All our itinerant ministers are authorized agents, and will receive payment when offered. Is it not better to pay even a little beforehand, than to incur the additional expense of fifty cents, or a dollar, by unnecessary delay? The third volume will be completed in the last week in August, (1829.)

☞ Agents having in hand for us ten dollars, or more, either for books sold, for any of our periodicals, or for Sunday School books or tracts, will please transmit the same by any safe private conveyance, or by mail at our risk and expense, without delay. They will please to procure drafts in all practicable cases; or if these cannot be had, send the largest and most current notes. Any convenient bank, or mercantile friend, will give information respecting drafts.—If agents retain money in their hands beyond a reasonable time, and any accident befall it by the failure of banks or otherwise, it must be their loss.

Dr. Adam Clarke's, and Rev. Joseph Benson's Commentaries.

☞ Persons having incomplete sets of Dr. A. Clarke's or Benson's Commentaries, are again requested to get them completed without delay. Any number or volume wanted may now be obtained through any of our itinerant ministers, either from the Rev. C. Holliday, Cincinnati; or from J. Emory and B. Waugh, 14 Crosby-street, New-York. After January next, we shall not hold ourselves bound to break our own sets to enable others to comple theirs.

SABBATH SCHOOL LIBRARIES

Complete selected libraries for sabbath schools, consisting of one hundred and six volumes, neatly and uniformly bound, may now be had of the Agents, J. Emory & B. Waugh, at the low price of $45 for the whole. Many of the volumes are octavo editions of standard works. Among them are the Holy Bible, Wesley's Notes and Sermons, Life of John and Charles Wesley, Martindale's Dictionary, Benson's Life of Fletcher, Life of Mrs. Fletcher, Sturm's Reflections, Youth's Instructer, complete set of Methodist Magazine, Sunday School Histories, Biographies, Tales and Narratives, with many other smaller and interesting works, both for scholars and teachers.

☞ These Minutes contain eight pages more than those of last year. The price, however, remains the same, viz. 12½ cents each, or $1 per dozen.
